

MAY LONG + COVID RESTRICTIONS

With May long weekend approaching, the government has taken precautions to avoid the spread of the virus. Some of these are not new to us such as the travel only when essential. The travel only when essential has now been set in place with roadblocks on the main highways. These are so people avoid travelling between the 3 provincial health zones. Northern and Interior zone, Lower Mainland and Fraser Valley zone, and the Vancouver Island zone.

Some reasons for essential travel:

- ✓ Work (paid and unpaid)
- ✓ Commercial transportation of goods
- ✓ Getting health care or social services or helping someone get those services
- ✓ Attending a funeral
- ✓ Attending classes at a post-secondary institution or school

To know if your travel is deemed as essential, check out:

These bans have been said to be lifted on May 25th at midnight.

Passing of a Legend

The community of Edgewood has lost one of their long term outstanding and innovative members, Frank Appleton. Frank Appleton was spouse to Jean Bassett and loved by many. Frank passed away peacefully April 25th, 2021 early in the morning at his home here in Edgewood. Frank was well known as the ‘craft beer pioneer’ as well as playwriter for “The Kootenays are Revolting”. Frank was also a contributor to the magazine HarrowSmith and other published journals and wrote his autobiography “Brewing Revolution” which was nominated for the National Business Book Award in 2016. Frank will be missed by all of us here at The Edge and especially by his spouse Jean Bassett.

Rest in Peace Frank, your legacy lives on.
