Celebrate Edgeconnection Tea Open House

We would like to invite you to come celebrate our Community's success with us. On Thursday October 18, 2007 at 1:00 pm join us at The Edge for Tea, Crumpets and a Celebration Cake. Everyone Welcome!

Edgewood Community Internet Society (ECIS) is proud to announce that our community is benefiting from Broadband Service in our newly renovated office at The Edge Community Access Program Site. ECIS is pleased to provide opportunities to offer better and more innovative ways to stay connected, informed and entertained. ECIS is dedicated to delivering state of the art high speed at competitive prices. This ensures that residents have multiple points of access to the global connections highway.

Broadband communications improves the knowledge of the workforce, promotes equal access and fosters innovation. The community's broadband, labour and other assets will attract new residents.

There is a spirit in Edgewood and the Inonoaklin Valley for taking talents and ideas from different spheres and putting them together for a common purpose. This common purpose being to grow with and to help the community.

Anyone who lives and does business in this community knows that it is unique. Good things happen here because there is a focus on creating a cutting edge environment built on collaboration, on maximizing our collective resources and on leadership that moves the community forward.

Beyond collaboration, we are a community that embraces new ideas and builds upon them, ensuring that innovation isn't just about how we think but how we act as a community.

When it came to leveraging technology to better this community on many fronts, members of the ECIS came together. There was a sense that the efforts throughout the community would tell a powerful story.

High speed Internet is crucial to the economic well being of businesses owners, tourism operators, farmers, health care providers as well as students and educators. This is the powerful story.
